Dear Jim:

Attached herewith are fifteen copies of the technical and cost proposal for development of a viewer possessing the versatility of multi-format handling in conjunction with the added capability of selective variable magnification. Therefore, contained in this proposal are four prepared quotes which are as follows:

- #1 Development of a finite conjugate lens.
- #2 Development and fabrication of one viewer.
- #3 Development and fabrication of five viewers.
- #4 Development and fabrication of ten viewers.

A noteworthy point in this submission is that the cost of the development of the lens itself is incorporated in the costs of each of Items #2, #3, and #4. Therefore, there is no need to add the cost of the lens itself to each of the units.

The items submitted are to be considered each a separate entity. Therefore, any single item may be awarded as a separate contract. Further, the cost of four (4) production items, after development of the first, are approximately $320,000, or $80,000 each; and the cost of nine (9) production items, after development of the first, is approximately $576,000, or $64,000 each.

A second point is that this submission is predicate on the fact that no finished drawings are to be delivered.

The technical proposal contains a detailed schedule for each of the aforementioned submissions.

We trust this submission meets with your approval and that we will receive a favorable determination soon.
